ABOUT ME

Full Stack Developer with Web Designer training. Experience working with NodeJS, React, Redux, SQL amongst other technologies.
I am also a Clinical Psychologist, profession that I carry out in the present, it has allowed me to develop comunicational soft skills, active listening and a better understanding of interrelationships inside groups.
My main goal over the last years has been to find ways to improve people´s lives and mental health through technology.
I think myself as a proactive person, having developed several ventures since early age, being the most important one, an E-commerce dedicated to sell event accesories, wich is still active and in continous growth.
